

SERIOUS PEDALING. SERIOUS REWARD.

Destination: The Wellfleet Beachcomber and PB Boulangerie (about 15 miles from Ocean Edge)

Please note that The Beachcomber is closed until Memorial Day weekend, but don't let that discourage you. The sights are well worth it, and there are great spots to check out along the way!

Continuing on from Orleans, there's a whole lotta nature and scenery until you hit Arnolds (3580 Route 6, Eastham | 508.255.2575), the perfect place for a pit stop and settle down with seafood, ice cream, miniature golf and cold beer.

Back on the trail, when you reach the Wellfleet General Store (1446 Rt. 6, Wellfleet | 508.349.1100), you have reached the end of the Cape Cod Bike and Rail Trail. It's easy to ride on to Provincetown, but lucky for us, there's plenty of reason to stop. PB Boulangerie (15 Lecount Hollow Rd, South Wellfleet | 508.349.1600) opened June '10 and captured the appetites and hearts of locals and tourists with an amazing bistro and to-die-for bakery. Within days of opening, bakery lines were up to an hour long and reservations in the dining room impossible. Bike up here to see, nibble, dine, and drool. Open Wednesday through Sunday. Bakery: 7am until 7pm. Bistro dinner: 5-10pm. See what the New York Times and Boston Globe have to say about the Cape's most talked about bistro.

Time to pedal onwards to our favorite destination on the Lower Cape. You can relive the days of your youth (but never feel out of place) by pedaling to Cahoon Hollow Beach and The Beachcomber. The Beachcomber is one of the most dramatic and prettiest beaches on the National Seashore. Breathtaking actually.
